SNITCH: Your Key to Cleaner, Safer Neighborhoods Across Broward County

BOCA RATON, FLA. (March 31, 2025) — Broward County faces an escalating issue: the inability to anonymously report neighborhood problems. Since Florida enacted Senate Bill 60 (SB-60), residents of Fort Lauderdale, Hollywood, Coral Springs, Pembroke Pines, and other cities across Broward must now provide their names and addresses to file code violation complaints. Fear of retaliation has become a significant deterrent, allowing minor issues like abandoned cars, dilapidated fences, and illegal dumping to fester into larger community headaches.

"First sober homes, then short-term rentals, now this—Tallahassee continues to limit local control, leaving communities vulnerable," said Dr. T. Chaz Stevens, founder of SNITCH. "Our residents deserve the right to safely speak up about problems affecting their neighborhoods."

SNITCH provides a simple, secure online platform that complies with SB-60 by submitting complaints under SNITCH's name, protecting the identities of residents and removing the fear of retaliation. This innovative approach helps maintain safer and cleaner neighborhoods throughout Broward County.

We're the Clean Neighborhood Concierge.

"SNITCH empowers homeowners associations, civic groups, and local community leaders by streamlining the complaint process," Stevens added. "Our platform ensures clear, concise communication with city officials, resulting in quicker resolutions and more satisfied residents."
